GF Strong

It's my favourite Event

Every August AIM puts on GF Strong Show and Shine it's the one I look forward to the most. The last few years I personally have seen patients make amazing progress in their recoveries. One that stands out the most was seeing a patient who last year at GF Strong, could not speak or do much of anything but a few weeks ago at the GF Strong Resource Fair this individual strolled up behind me in his wheelchair and tapped me gently, I turned around and in a soft voice said one word to me "Hello" and smiled I had the most amazing feeling, to see the progress in one year that this person has made it was amazing I know it was a small step but it was a powerful one for me, for this Individual had remembered me and let me know that they were getting stronger. That is the biggest thank you and why we do this.

If you have never come to the GF Strong Show and Shine which is August 9th, 2015 this year come check it out. It will be a day you will never forget.

Attn: Dave Munro President

Hi Dave,

I just wanted to thank you for the well written article on page 5 , in the Spring issue of the newsletter titled : " About Aim " .

One line stands out particularly: A.I.M. has come a long way, up and down like a roller coaster. Yes, lasting 32 years is more than I ever expected.

I registered A.I.M. as a non-profit organization governed by the Society Act in 1983, in Victoria, after I was injured in a motorcycle accident in 1976 leaving me as an incomplete quadriplegic.

ATGATT= All The Gear All The Time

Wear "All The Gear All The Time" is an oft-repeated refrain by the various Riding Schools, and for good reason. The web site below demonstrates a rider pinned under a truck, a tire on his leg and the rear axle on his back. Two jacks were required to lift the truck high enough to release the rider and passersby pulled him to safety.

On viewing the picture on Page 5 it is easy to argue that the helmet and riding gear prevented serious injury.

Motorcyclist Armando Vergara, 33, of La Mirada, is trapped underneath a pickup truck on the 91 Freeway in Corona on Friday, May 1, in this image from a video shot by a passerby.

As he inched along the eastbound 91 Freeway during rush hour, Byron Holeman looked out his window and saw a large object under a slow-moving pickup. At first, he thought the truck's bumper had come loose. As he got closer, he realized it was something else – something horrifying. "I saw some human legs coming from the front end by the tires,

"Holeman said by phone Sunday.

Holeman, 48, said he was driving home to Corona from his job at a printing company in Orange about 4:50 p.m. Friday. He was in the slow lane just east of Green River Road and the truck was two lanes to his left.

Traffic was moving about 5 mph, authorities said. The man trapped under the truck, identified by the California Highway Patrol as Armando Vergara, 33, of La Mirada, was a motorcyclist who sideswiped a vehicle and fell off the bike, landing on the road, said CHP Sgt. Clarence Bullen. The driver of the pickup couldn't stop in time. By the time he realized what had happened, the truck was on top of Vergara, Bullen said. Holeman got out of his car in the middle of the freeway and joined several people who had rushed to aid the man pinned under the truck.

He recorded video on his phone of Good Samaritans using jacks to lift the truck and help the man to safety. One of those Good Samaritans was Andrew Hubbard, a 28-year-old Yorba Linda resident and Chino Valley Fire District firefighter-paramedic who was on his way to work.

He was on his way to work when he noticed a truck stopped on the roadway and several people out of their cars." Usually you can tell when there's high-anxiety and panic going on and there was definitely a lot of that," he said. He learned from the people on the scene that a man was trapped under the truck: a tire was on his leg and the rear axle was on his lower back, he said.

"He was definitely panicking and in a lot of pain," Hubbard said. The other passersby had used a jack on the truck's front axle and lifted it a little, but not enough to pull the man free. Soon, someone else brought another jack and they used it to lift the rear axle. Slowly, they pulled the man by his legs and he was free.

A Word from Rose Keith:

The Importance of Collision Coverage

Insurance is expensive and we often find as many ways as possible to reduce the cost of insurance. One way you should not be decreasing your insurance cost though is by not getting Collision Coverage. Imagine that you are riding your bike one day and wildlife suddenly crosses the highway, causing you to make an emergency maneuver to avoid a deadly crash with the animal. In the process your bike goes down and incurs significant damage. If you are one of those people who have tried to decrease your insurance bill by opting to not purchase collision coverage when you take your bike in to be repaired you are going to get a very unpleasant surprise. Rather than paying a deductible and getting the bike fixed you are going to be responsible for the entire cost of repairs to the bike. If the bike has been damaged beyond repair you will not be given any money by ICBC to replace it. Without collision coverage, if another person is not at fault for the damage to your bike there will be no insurance to cover the cost of repairs or replacement, or the cost of towing, or the cost of storage. You will have to pay each of these expenses personally and in many situations this could mean that the investment that you have made in your bike is gone.

Collision coverage is available to every motorist. If you have a history of at fault accidents the deductible for the collision coverage may be higher. The insurance that you get from the collision coverage will help to pay for the cost of your motorcycle repairs or replacement, towing and storage when the accident is your fault. This collision coverage applies and is available to you if you hit another vehicle, object or something about the surface of the road causes damage to your vehicle. The collision coverage will protect you by covering the cost of the repairs, towing and storage when your bike is damaged, or a cash settlement if your bike is damaged beyond repair. Your bike is likely worth a lot of money. For many people, if the cost of repairs or replacement, towing and storage are not covered by insurance they will be unable to afford the cost of repairing the bike.

When you buy Collision Coverage you will have to choose a deductible amount. The deductible is the amount that you will have to pay before the insurance kicks in to pay for the remainder of the repairs. Generally the available deductibles range for $300 to $2,500, with the cost of the insurance increasing as the value of the deductible decreases. In other words, the higher the deductible, the lower the cost of the insurance premium. When you are deciding the amount of the deductible make sure that you are thinking carefully about how much you will be able to pay to have the insurance kick in. If you choose a $2,500 deductible to decrease the cost of the insurance it will only be of benefit to you if you are able to pay the $2,500 if you need the insurance. Having Collision Coverage provides you with peace of mind in knowing that regardless of how an accident has happened the cost of repairing or replacing your bike will be covered. Remember that if you save money on the cost of insuring your bike by not getting Collision Coverage you are running a huge risk and that risk could result in the investment that you have made in your bike being completely lost. Unless the damage to your bike is because of someone else, if you do not have collision coverage ICBC will not cover the cost of repairs, replacement, towing or storage.

You can get a quote for the cost of Collision Coverage by contacting an Auto plan Broker.
